Relationship questions?

Alison (as “Lace”) has joined forces with Tony ( as “Leather”) to combine a male and female perspective. The name: “Leather and Lace Advice” was inspired by a line in the Stevie Nicks song Leather & Lace: “Give to me your leather, take from me, my lace.” to reflect the fact that men and women have different ways of solving problems and viewing issues.

Alison and Tony are also Leather and Lace Advice on Wizpert. When you click on the Leather and Lace Logo on Wizpert, you may find Tony there to answer your question, or Alison. But no matter which wizpert you get, behind the logo there are not one, but two real relationship experts.

Alison is a multi-published relationship book author and long-time advisor on matters of life, love and career. “I have always believed that most people have the capacity within themselves to create better, happier lives. What’s usually needed is just some inspiration, and creative ways to help creative thinking. That’s what I hope to do on Wizpert.

Tony is also an accomplished advisor, “I have always wanted to help other, offering wisdom and guidance when someone was willing to accept it. I try to make my advice not just sincere, but hopefully well thought out. Each person asking for help is unique. How you process what I share with you and how you chose to use the advice to suit your own issues will be different.

One of the things that attracted us to Wizpert, is that we get a chance to chat in real time with lots of different people who all are interested in different things. While we hope we are inspiring people to solve their problems, or at least get a different perspective that can help them move forward, they are also inspiring us. We like to reach out to people through chat, and help them quickly if we can. Wizpert offers people that opportunity to do just that.

Either Alison or tony will be waiting for those Wizpert chat requests, and we'll be there to answer them. If you select Leather and Lace Advice, we will do our best to give you not just the benefit of our experience, but a lot of understanding.

we wish you love, success and happiness!
